COMPETITION FORMAT AND RULES

TRIATHLON

As of 23 JUN 2016

Olympic Competition Format

There are Men's and Women's Triathlon events at the Olympic Games with the following format:

	Swim	Bike	Run
Women	1.5km (1 lap)	41.6km (8 laps of 5.2km)	10km (4 laps of 2.5km)
Men	1.5km (1 lap)	41.6km (8 laps of 5.2km)	10km (4 laps of 2.5km)

There is a draw for starting positions, organised 48 hours before the first competition.

The event is continuous with no breaks in competition. The first athlete to complete the course is declared the winner.

Expected duration of segments (winner):

Women: Swim - app. 20 minutes; bike - app. 60 minutes; run - app. 35 minutes. Total time of the event with two transitions is app. 1 hour 55 minutes.

Men: Swim - app. 18 minutes; bike - app. 55 minutes; run - app. 30 minutes. Total time of the event with two transitions is app. 1 hour 43 minutes.

The maximum number of athletes competing in the Olympic Triathlon competition is 110, with 55 women and 55 men.

Differences between the ITU World Championships and the Olympic Games

The ITU World Championships is made of a series of events.

There is a different qualification system. For the Olympic Games, the maximum quota is three athletes per event and NOC.

Changes since the London 2012 Olympic Games

None

Sport Rules and Procedures

Tie Break Rules

The Race Referee may decide, based on the available evidence, that two or more athletes are tied if there is no way of discerning which athlete crossed the finish line first. In case of tie, the athlete with the lowest race number will be listed first.

Penalties and exclusions

Failure to comply with the ITU Competition Rules may result in an athlete being verbally warned, punished with a 15 seconds time penalty, disqualified, suspended, or expelled.

The most common reasons for penalization are: Early start, shortcircuiting the course and unsportsmanlike behaviour; mount before the mount line or dismount after the dismount line in the transition area.

Protests / Appeals

A protest or appeal is considered if it is submitted in writing no more than 15 minutes after the official posting of the results, but needs to be announced within five minutes after results have been posted. Appeals of an official decision can be made in the same way after a protest decision.

HISTORY TRIATHLON

Origin of Triathlon

Triathlon was created as an alternative workout to track training in the 1970s.

The first recorded triathlon took place in San Diego, USA, in 1974. Forty-six athletes finished the race.

The International Triathlon Union (ITU) was founded in 1989 in Avignon, France, and the first world championships were held later in the same year, with more than 800 competitors representing 40 countries.

Triathlon Today

Triathlon challenges competitors in three sports – swimming, cycling and running – and is considered a stern test of human endurance and ability.

Events are conducted over a variety of distances. At the Olympic Games, the triathlon consists of a 1500m swim, 40km bike ride and 10km run.

The ITU organises various major events all over the world. The 2011 World Championships Series took place in Australia, Japan, Spain, Austria, Germany and Great Britain, culminating in the grand final in China.

The ITU has more than 145 affiliated national federations.

Triathlon at the Olympic Games

Triathlon made its debut at the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games where more than half a million spectators lined the streets to watch the action.

The six Olympic triathlon gold medals have been won by athletes from six nations: Canada and Switzerland at the Sydney 2000 Games, New Zealand and Austria at the Athens 2004 Games, and Germany and Australia at the Beijing 2008 Games.

Canada's Simon Whitfield and New Zealand's Bevan Docherty are the only athletes to have claimed medals at more than one Olympic Games. Whitfield won gold at Sydney 2000 and took silver at Beijing 2008; Docherty took silver at Athens 2004 and a bronze at Beijing 2008.

Australia has claimed the most medals (four), all in the women's event.

PRESS CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

TRIATHLON

WOMEN

News Item: 119

HUERTA Manuel (USA)

On his initial dream of competing at the Olympic Games for Cuba, where he was born and lived until the age of 13:

"I didn't know in the future I was going to be able to move to the US, so back then, yeah, my idea was to compete for Cuba. Once I was able to move to the US I saw that in the US you put your own goals, your own limits. If you work hard you're going to get there and you don't have to depend on the government or someone else to achieve those goals for you. That's when I realised I had a realistic chance of making an Olympic team."

On his mother's decision to move to the USA in 1997:

"She was happy to be able to make that trip and thanks to her we were able to move to the US and now I'm here. My mum used to be a university physics teacher in Cuba, but now she is a driving instructor."

On whether he feels American or Cuban:

"I am 100% American. I remember where I came from, I think I'm very lucky to be able to be born over there and then come over here (to USA) and succeed. It can open the door to many kids who come over here (to USA) with a dream."

JORGENSEN Gwen (USA)

On whether she will focus on the individual or team performance:

"We always want the US to do well and the main goal is for the US, but when we get to that start line I just think everyone is so focused on doing the best they can."

SPORT PREVIEW

TRIATHLON

News Item: 1

- The event comprises a 1500m swim, a 40km bike and ending with a 10km run. There is no break between the sports for the 55 women and 55 men competing.
- The race starts with competitors diving off a pontoon on the north side of the Serpentine, then seven laps of the bike course which takes them out at Hyde Park Corner and down Constitution Hill past Buckingham Palace for each circuit and, finally, a four-lap run in the park.
- Triathlon became an Olympic event in 2000 and it has been won at each Games - in the women's and men's competition - by an athlete from a different country.
- Great Britain have high hopes of a medal as Helen JENKINS, from Brigend, Wales, is the 2011 world champion and won the test event over the same course last August.
- As Helen TUCKER, she won the 2008 world championships before marrying fellow triathlete Marc JENKINS (GBR), who is also her coach.
- Marc JENKINS competed for Great Britain at Athens 2004 but the spokes in his back wheel broke after colliding with another rider. He then ran two kilometres uphill, bike on his shoulder, to get technical help. The delay meant JENKINS finished last but received a great reception as he crossed the line.
- Helen JENKINS will face tough opposition from a field which includes Emma MOFFAT (AUS), who is also twice a world champion as well as Olympic bronze medallist from 2008.
- There's also the in-form Nicola SPIRIG (SUI), winner of both Madrid and Kitzbuhel legs of the International Triathlon Union world series, Andrea HEWITT (NZL), who leads the world rankings, and Erin DENSHAM (AUS), who also has two world series wins including Hamburg in late July, the last before the Games.
- No one would rule out Paula FINDLAY (CAN), who was in terrific form in 2011 but has been sidelined for much of this year with a hip injury. FINDLAY may start as underdog but that could well be to her advantage. She's been training with Simon WHITFIELD (CAN), who won the inaugural Olympic triathlon in 2000 and carried the flag at last week's opening ceremony.
- Barbara RIVEROS DIAZ (CHI) wears No.1 after a random draw. She's also attempting to become the first athlete from South America to win a triathlon medal. Anja DITTMER (GER) will become the only woman to have competed at all four Olympics the triathlon has featured in, while Jessica HARRISON (FRA) is coming home. Born in Sheffield, HARRISON competed for Great Britain before changing nationalities to France where she has been national champion three times.

EVENT PREVIEW

TRIATHLON

MEN

News Item: 23

- The London 2012 Olympic Games Men's Triathlon takes place on Tuesday 18 August in and around Hyde Park. The event comprises a 1500m swim, a 40km bike ride and finally a 10km run. There is no break between the sports for the 55 men competing.
- The race starts with competitors diving off a pontoon on the north side of the Serpentine, then racing seven laps of the bike course which takes them out at Hyde Park Corner and down Constitution Hill past Buckingham Palace for each circuit before returning for a four-lap run in the park.
- Since Triathlon became an Olympic event in 2000 no NOC has won the men's gold twice, and the NOC of the host city has never topped the podium.
- However, Great Britain have high hopes of finally winning this event with Alistair BROWNLEE (GBR) and his younger brother Jonathan BROWNLEE (GBR) being tipped to take gold and silver respectively.
- Alistair is the 2011 and 2009 International Triathlon Union world champion and also won the test event over the picturesque Hyde Park course. But history does not favour the 24-year-old Yorkshireman. No winner of the test event has gone on to take Olympic gold.
- Alistair sustained an achilles injury earlier in the year which many thought might put paid to his Olympic dreams. But he returned in devastating form to win the Kitzbuhel leg of the ITU world triathlon series with ease.
- While he was recovering from injury, brother Jonathan had taken over where he left off, winning the Madrid and San Diego legs of the world series.
- The BROWNLEEs' status as race favourites is no guarantee of success, as the women's race proved on Saturday.
- Javier GOMEZ (ESP), who has also been ITU world champion twice and finished third in Kitzbuhel behind the brothers, cannot be discounted, nor can the current leader of the world triathlon series, Alexander BRYUKHANKOV (RUS).
- The field features a plethora of former Olympic medal winners, including Simon WHITFIELD (CAN), who won gold in the very first Olympic Triathlon at Sydney 2000. Now in his fourth Games, WHITFIELD carried the Canadian flag at the Opening Ceremony for London 2012. He also won silver at Beijing 2008 behind Jan FRODENO (GER), who returns to defend his title.
- Bevan DOCHERTY (NZL) only needs gold to complete his Olympic medal collection, having won bronze in Beijing and silver at Athens 2004.
- Another strong contender is Sven RIEDERER (SUI), who won bronze in Athens and is third in the world triathlon series rankings. He will be hoping to emulate compatriot Nicola SPIRIG (SUI) who won the women's race in a dramatic photo-finish on Saturday.

EVENT REVIEW

TRIATHLON

WOMEN

News Item: 75

- Nicola SPIRIG (SUI) won a dramatic sprint-finish to take gold in the Women's Triathlon in Hyde Park on Saturday. Silver went to Lisa NORDEN (SWE) and bronze to Erin DENSHAM (AUS).
- There was heartbreak for Helen JENKINS (GBR), the 2011 and 2008 world champion and winner of the 2011 test event over the same course, who lost touch with the leaders during the last of four 2.5 kilometre laps in the run and finished fifth.
- JENKINS, who had hoped to end Great Britain's long wait for an Olympic triathlon medal, later revealed she had struggled with injury in the countdown to the Games and apologised for not finishing with a medal.
- After a 1500m swim in the Serpentine, where athletes had to wear wetsuits because the water temperature had dipped below 20 degrees, and a seven-lap, 43km bike ride, a leading pack of 10 had split away from the field of 55 starters.
- Early favourites including Emma MOFFAT (AUS), the 2008 Olympic bronze medallist, crashed out on a course made all the more challenging after early morning rain.
- After three of the four laps that made up the final discipline, a 10km run, five athletes were left to fight it out for the medals: SPIRIG, NORDEN, DENSHAM, GROFF and JENKINS.
- As JENKINS and GROFF slipped away and DENSHAM could not quite keep pace, SPIRIG, who has already won two stages of the International Triathlon Union World Series this year, and NORDEN entered the finishing chute shoulder to shoulder, only for SPIRIG to dip across the line first in one hour, 59.48 seconds.
- NORDEN was awarded the same time but a photo-finish revealed it was the Swiss athlete who had crossed the line first.
- It was a remarkable turnaround for DENSHAM, who had to be pulled from the water in 2009 after collapsing during a race. It was later discovered she suffered from tachycardia (an irregular heartbeat) that needed surgery to correct.
- Triathlon only became an Olympic sport in 2000. It is the second time in four Olympic races Switzerland has triumphed in the women's race following Brigitte McMAHON's (SUI) victory in 2000.

Men's Triathlon: Jonathan BROWNLEE (GBR) receives 15 second penalty

Jonathan BROWNLEE (GBR) has been given a 15-second penalty for mounting his bike too early in the Men's Triathlon at Hyde Park on Tuesday.

A favourite for a medal, BROWNLEE (GBR) was in fourth place after the swim and is currently part of the leading pack on the bike, but has been penalised for getting on to his bike prior to the mount line during transition one.

BROWNLEE (GBR) will take his penalty in the designated penalty box 100 metres to the east of the transition zone, but can choose to take this on any of his four laps during the run stage.
