COMPETITION FORMAT AND RULES

TENNIS

As of 23 JUN 2016

Olympic Competition Format

The Olympic Tennis competition at the Rio 2016 Olympic Games is made up of five events (Singles, Doubles and Mixed Doubles competitions for men and women).

The maximum number of players who may compete in the Olympic Tennis competition is 172 unless otherwise agreed by the International Tennis Federation (ITF) and the IOC.

All competitions are conducted in a single elimination format, where the winner of each match advances to the next round. The loser of each match is eliminated, except in the semifinal matches where the losers compete in the bronze medal match.

There are 64 players in both the Men's and Women's Singles competitions, 32 teams in the Men's and Women's Doubles and 16 teams in the Mixed Doubles competitions.

Singles

Sixteen players are seeded and the remaining players are drawn. The winners of the two semifinal matches advance to the final (gold medal match). The losers of the two semifinal matches compete in the bronze medal match.

All matches will be the best of three tie-break sets except for the Men's Singles final, which will be the best of five tie-break sets.

Doubles

Eight teams are seeded and the remaining teams are drawn. The winners of the two semifinal matches advance to the final (gold medal match). The losers of the two semifinal matches compete in the bronze medal match.

All matches will be the best of three tie-break sets.

Mixed Doubles

Four teams are seeded and the remaining teams are drawn. The winners of the two semifinal matches advance to the final (gold medal match). The losers of the two semifinal matches compete for the bronze medal.

All matches will be the best of three sets, but the third set is a match tie-break. The team who first wins ten points will win this match tie-break and the match provided there is a margin of two points over the opponents. A regular tie-break operates in the first two sets.

Draw

The draw for all events except the Mixed Doubles, will be conducted in public by the ITF, and must be held no later than 48 hours prior to the start of the Olympic Tennis competition.

The draw for the Mixed Doubles, will be conducted in public by the ITF, and will be held on Tuesday August 9th, 2016.

If there are two players/teams from the same country, they will be drawn into different halves of the draw. If there are three or four players from the same country, they will be drawn into different quarters of the draw.

Differences between the Olympic Games and other tournaments

At the Olympic Games both players in Doubles and Mixed Doubles must be from the same NOC.

Changes since the London 2012 Olympic Games

The scoring format has changed for the Singles and Doubles for which the final set will now be a tie-break set instead of an advantage set.

Sport Rules and Procedures

The Tennis competitions at the Rio 2016 Olympic Games will be held in accordance with the ITF Rules of Tennis and the ITF Olympic Tennis Regulations.

Penalties / Disqualification Rules

As per the ITF Olympic Tennis Regulations Code of Conduct, a player can be penalised by a warning, point penalty, game penalty or a default. These will be given by the Chair Umpire and/or Referee.

Protests / Appeals

In Tennis protests are not possible. The result is final after the match.

The structure and content of this output is recommended as a baseline for creation of the actual output for Games time.

General Interest*ATP PLAYERS COUNCIL

He was elected president of the ATP Players Council in June 2008. He had a reported disagreement with Rafael Nadal, the former vice president of the council, over the plans to overhaul the rankings system. Nadal was in favour of adopting a new system that calculated ranking over two years, but Federer was not in favour of this change. "I think it would make things rather boring," Federer said. Nadal resigned as vice president in March 2012. (telegraph.co.uk, 26 Mar 2012)

AMBASSADOR

He was appointed UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador in April 2006 because of his outstanding commitment to the world's children. As part of his role with UNICEF, he visited Tamil Nadu, India - the country's hardest hit state - to mark the two-year anniversary of the Indian Ocean tsunami. (ATP, 03 May 2006)

FOUNDATION

In 2003, he initiated the Roger Federer Foundation which supports disadvantaged children in South Africa and promotes sport for young people. (rogerfedererfoundation.org, 1 Mar 2012)

LONDON CALLING

In celebration of the 2012 Olympic Games in London, all tube stations were changed to the names of athletes. 'Roger Federer' replaced 'Old Street' on the Northern Line, which is one stop on from 'Rafael Nadal'. (rogerfederer.com, 2 Apr 2012)

HISTORY TENNIS

Origin of Tennis

There is evidence to suggest tennis originated in ancient Greece, but the first signs of the sport as it is today appeared in France in the 11th or 12th century. It was called Jeu de Paume, meaning "game of the hand" and played by monks who hit a ball with their hands against monastery walls.

In the 16th century, England's King Henry VIII built an indoor court at Hampton Court Palace to play what is now known as Real Tennis. The court was replaced by King Charles I in 1625 and still exists today.

The first rackets appeared in the 16th century and were wooden, with strings made of sheep or bovine intestines. In the 1870s Walter Clopton Wingfield, an English army major, developed a version of Real Tennis that could be played outdoors on a lawn. He called it 'Sphairistike' (from the Greek word for ball games). The name was soon changed to Lawn Tennis and the first tournament took place in the United States in 1874.

In 1875, The All England Croquet Club converted one of its croquet lawns for Lawn Tennis. The sport grew in popularity and within a year four more lawns were converted.

By 1913 the various national associations decided to join forces and form the International Lawn Tennis Federation (ILTF) to ensure that the game was uniformly structured. In 1977 ILTF dropped 'lawn' to take on its present name, the International Tennis Federation (ITF).

Tennis Today

Tennis is one of the most popular sports in the world. The ITF has more than 200 member nations and the four Grand Slams - Australian Open, Roland Garros, Wimbledon and US Open - are some of the most prestigious competitions in any sport.

Until the early 1970s, the majority of tournaments were played on grass, but clay and hard surfaces are now prevalent. Today, Wimbledon is the only Grand Slam played on grass.

Tennis is an extremely fast sport and in 2006 an electronic review system was introduced to allow players to challenge uncertain line calls.

The Davis Cup, which sees players representing their nation, is the world's largest annual international team competition in sport, with more than 120 nations competing each year.

Tennis at the Olympic Games

Tennis appeared at the first modern Olympic Games in 1896.

The London 1908 Games featured both Tennis (as Lawn Tennis) and Indoor Tennis (Jeu de Paume). The outdoor game was hosted by The All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club in Wimbledon at their former home in Worple Road, close to today's venue. The indoor form of the game at the 1908 Games took place at The Queen's Club in west London.

Tennis was dropped from the official programme after the Paris 1924 Games but returned 64 years later in Seoul in 1988 following a demonstration event in Los Angeles in 1984.

Although Great Britain has won the most Olympic medals in tennis, all but one of these were won before the sport was reintroduced in 1988.

MURRAY (GBR) - Gold medallist

On the gold medal match:

"It was a great match for me and a big moment. It's the biggest win of my career in a final. It's been a very fun week. I enjoyed all of it. The atmosphere in the matches has been unbelievable and it was the same again today."

On whether he has ever played a better match:

"It's hard to say, I know it's the biggest win of my career. To win against Roger (FEDERER) in straight sets on Centre Court, I'm going to say it probably hasn't happened in about 12 years so I must have played a very good match."

"I'm just really pleased. The scoreline is irrelevant really, it's all about winning the match whether it's in one hour or five hours I just wanted to win the gold."

On whether the crowd support has helped:

"They've helped all of the athletes, it's been no different here. They've helped me a lot in the mixed doubles too. They helped me a lot today and all week. The first round's always tough and the atmosphere from the first match to the last match has been great."

Roger FEDERER (SUI) after he lost 6-2, 6-1, 6-4 to Andy MURRAY (GBR) in the Men's Singles gold medal match.

FEDERER Roger (SUI) - Silver medallist

Is the primary emotion satisfaction at winning a silver or frustration that it's not gold?

"No, no, I'm very happy. I am satisfied. I think this is as good as I could do during these championships. Andy was much better than I was today in many aspects of the game."

For me, it's been a great month. I won Wimbledon, became World No. 1 again, and I got silver. Don't feel too bad for me.

I am very, very proud honestly to have won a silver. Had a very emotional tournament from start to finish. I could have lost in the first round against Falla. Same thing obviously with Del Potro. I felt like I won my silver, I didn't lose it. So I feel very, very happy."

You've dealt with a lot of partisan crowds before. Was there a rise in the atmosphere did you think at all?

"Well, different. Maybe more patriotic. The buildup I think was completely different. Not that I read the press here. But there's so many things going on right now in the sporting world that obviously the focus wasn't just alone on the tennis tournament and on Andy Murray."

So maybe that helped him prepare. Maybe the mixed yesterday took his mind off it. Then obviously once the match started today, I knew it was going to be a good crowd for Andy. But, honestly, I've experienced more tougher crowds for my opponent in the past everywhere I've played all around the world."

But that's not why I lost the match today. But I'm sure that gave him a lift and made him play well, once he was in the lead in particular, and he never looked back. His credit for getting in the lead and then using the crowd to his advantage to come through. He did it unbelievably well."

Can you tell me something about how strongly you decide on Olympic gold to get your collection of trophies complete and will there be another Olympics in 2016 for you?

"I mean, I hope so. I said it before the tournament that it's not impossible that I could take part in Rio. But right now, I mean, in the meantime I could retire and come back. It's that long of a break (laughter)."

It's not front and center in my mind. But, of course, I'd love an Olympic gold in singles. But I am very happy with an Olympic silver in singles, and I already have the gold from Beijing.

So this has been an amazing ride for me these last 10 days being part of the Olympics and representing Switzerland. I do that everywhere I go, but this was particularly emotional. I tried extremely hard. I feel I did very well. I hope, you know, the Swiss are proud of me.

So we'll see about Rio. It's a fascinating country. I've never been to Rio. Obviously, I'd love to be part of it. We'll see how it goes."

SPORT PREVIEW

TENNIS

News Item: 1

Medal prospects

- Contenders in three events - Roger FEDERER (SUI) in the men's singles, Serena WILLIAMS (USA) in the women's singles, and Serena and Venus WILLIAMS (USA) in the women's doubles - come into this tournament with the boost of winning the Wimbledon championships in early July on the same grass courts.
- The WILLIAMS sisters are also defending the title they won at Beijing 2008.
- Seedings will be announced later this week, but in the singles events they are based on the latest rankings issued by the Association of Tour Professionals (men) and the Women's Tennis Association (women).
- That would mean FEDERER will be seeded No.1 and Andy MURRAY (GBR), whom he defeated in the Wimbledon final, at No.3. MURRAY, the world No.4, moves up a place because of the withdrawal of Rafael NADAL (ESP). Novak DJOKOVIC (SRB) is world No.2, while David FERRER (ESP) is world No.5.
- In the women's singles, the top four are Victoria AZARENKA (BLR), Agnieszka RADWANSKA (POL), Maria SHARAPOVA (RUS) and Serena WILLIAMS (USA). WILLIAMS defeated RADWANSKA in the final at Wimbledon earlier this month. AZARENKA was a semifinalist and SHARAPOVA exited in the fourth round.

Format and schedule

- There are five disciplines - men's and women's singles, men's and women's doubles, and mixed doubles. There are 64 players in the men's and women's singles, 32 pairs in the men's and women's doubles, and 16 pairs in the mixed doubles.
- There are 16 seeds in the singles events, eight in the men's and women's doubles and four in the mixed doubles. They are all knockout competitions; there are six rounds in the singles, five in the men's and women's doubles, and four in the mixed doubles.
- The gold and silver medals are determined in the finals of each discipline; the bronze medal is determined in a play-off match between the losing semifinalists in each discipline.
- All matches are best of three sets, with the exception of the men's singles final, which is best of five sets. The tie-break is played in all but the final set in all matches (except mixed doubles), when an advantage set is played. In mixed doubles, in the third set a match tie-break is played (10 points).

History

- Tennis was one of the nine sports played at the first modern games in 1896, but was dropped after Paris 1924. It was a demonstration event at Los Angeles 1984 and became a medal event again at Seoul 1988.
- This is only the second time the event has been played on grass; the first was at London 1908 (at the All England Club's previous home at Worple Road).

Notes

- London 2012 is the sixth Olympic Games for Leander PAES (IND), a record achievement for a tennis player.
- Kim CLIJSTERS (BEL) is making her first and last appearance at the Olympic Games, as she is retiring from the sport after the US Open in September.
- If Venus WILLIAMS/Serena WILLIAMS (USA), victors at Sydney 2000 and Beijing 2008, retain their women's doubles title and win a third gold medal, this will be a record in any tennis discipline.

Men's Singles

- No.1 seed Roger FEDERER will face No.3 seed Andy MURRAY in the gold medal match. FEDERER is in contention to claim a career golden slam in singles, having won all four grand slam titles and still being in a position to win a singles gold medal. The gold medal match will be a re-match of this year's Wimbledon Championships final. Irrespective of the result, FEDERER will retain the world No.1 ranking, when the new rankings are released on Monday 6 August.
- FEDERER and MURRAY meet for the 17th time, with their head-to-head tied at eight wins each. FEDERER has defeated MURRAY in each of their grand slam tournament meetings - the 2008 US Open, 2010 Australian Open and 2012 Wimbledon Championships. Neither player has won an Olympic singles medal. This is FEDERER'S fourth Olympic Games and MURRAY'S second.
- Novak DJOKOVIC (SRB) and Juan Martin DEL POTRO (ARG) will contest the bronze medal match on No.1 Court. DJOKOVIC holds a 4-1 lead in their head-to-head record. The Serbian also took the bronze medal in the men's singles in Beijing in 2008.

Women's Doubles

- Serena WILLIAMS (USA) will be bidding to add the women's doubles gold medal to the women's singles gold she won on Saturday. She will partner her sister Venus WILLIAMS (USA) against No.4 seeds Andrea Hlavackova/Lucie Hradecka (CZE) in the women's doubles gold medal match on Centre Court.
- The WILLIAMS sisters are looking to win their third Olympic women's doubles title having also claimed gold in this event in Sydney in 2000 and Beijing in 2008. Only Gigi FERNANDEZ (USA) and Mary Joe FERNANDEZ (USA) have won two consecutive Olympic Games tennis titles, winning the women's doubles gold medal in 1992 and 1996.
- Venus WILLIAMS will become the second tennis player to win medals at three different Olympic Games after Conchita MARTINEZ (ESP), who won silver in Barcelona in 1992, bronze in Atlanta in 1996, and silver in Athens 2004, all in the women's doubles event.
- No.1 seeds Liezel HUBER/Lisa RAYMOND (USA) take on Maria KIRILENKO/Nadia PETROVA (RUS) in the bronze medal match on Court No.1. HUBER/RAYMOND won their only previous meeting at Sydney earlier this year. None of these four players has ever won an Olympic medal.

Mixed Doubles

- Andy MURRAY (GBR) is guaranteed a second Olympic medal after he and partner Laura ROBSON (GBR) reached the gold medal match in the mixed doubles where they will face No.1 seeds Victoria AZARENKA/Max MIRNYI (BLR) on Centre Court. It will be just the second medal for Belarus in an Olympic Games tennis event after AZARENKA secured the bronze medal in the women's singles on Saturday.
- No.3 seeds Lisa RAYMOND/Mike BRYAN (USA) will face Sabine LISICKI/Christopher KAS (GER) in the bronze medal match on Court No.1.

No. 8 seed James Blake of the United States created the biggest upset of the Men's Olympic Tennis tournament by defeating Switzerland's World No. 1 Roger Federer 6-4, 7-6(2) in their Centre Court quarterfinals clash on Thursday August 14.

- It was Blake's first win over the Swiss player. Federer entered the match with an 8-0 record in matches against his opponent and had only lost one set to Blake previously.
- "One day I'll be able to tell my kids and grandkids that I beat the best of all time," Blake said.
- Federer said earlier in the week that winning an Olympic gold medal was the focus of his entire season.
- The Swiss player has yet to add a Grand Slam title this year to his 12 career victories. He will surrender the World No. 1 ranking he has held since 2004 to Rafael Nadal of Spain when the new world rankings come out on August 18.
- Blake broke the serve in the ninth game of the first set, cashing in after Federer sent a forehand sailing over the baseline at deuce.
- Federer chased down a 0-3 deficit in the second set, a position he also had been in the previous day in his match against Tomas Berdych of the Czech Republic, to force a tie-break. Blake twice broke Federer's serve to seize a 5-2 lead, and from there he rode out the match in 90 minutes.
- Federer made 56 unforced errors to Blake's 38 in the match.
- The US player will face either No.12 seed Fernando Gonzalez of Chile or Paul-Henri Mathieu of France in the semifinals on August 15.

Men's Singles

- Andy MURRAY (GBR) defeated Roger FEDERER (SUI) in straight sets 6-2, 6-1, 6-4 in one hour, 56 minutes. This match was the only one in the tennis tournament that was best of five sets, and was a reprise of the Wimbledon men's singles final last month, but with a different outcome.
- The two players had won eight each of their 16 previous meetings before this match, but FEDERER had won their only other encounter on grass. That was for the championship at this year's Wimbledon, which the Swiss won in four sets.
- This is Britain's first men's singles gold since Josiah RITCHIE (GBR) won at the London 1908 Olympic Games.
- MURRAY is the first home NOC player to win a gold in the men's singles since Andre AGASSI (USA) at Atlanta 1996.
- The bronze medal was won by Juan Martin DEL POTRO (ARG), who defeated Novak DJOKOVIC (SRB) 7-5, 6-4 in one hour, 48 minutes. It is Argentina's first men's medal in an individual event.

Women's Doubles

- Venus WILLIAMS/Serena WILLIAMS (USA) won the gold medal, defeating Andrea HLAVACKOVA/Lucie HRADECKA (CZE) 6-4, 6-4 in one hour, 33 minutes.
- This is the WILLIAMS sisters' third gold medal in this event; they won at Sydney 2000 and Beijing 2008.
- The WILLIAMS sisters have never lost a set in the doubles in the three Olympic Games they have competed in.
- The bronze medal was won by third seeds Maria KIRILENKO/Nadia PETROVA (RUS), who defeated top seeds Liezel HUBER/Lisa RAYMOND (USA) 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, in two hours 19 minutes.

Mixed Doubles

- Victoria AZARENKA/Max MIRNYI (BLR) won the gold, defeating Laura ROBSON/Andy MURRAY (GBR) 2-6, 6-3, 10-8. At 35, MIRNYI is the oldest player to have won a medal since tennis returned as an Olympic medal event at Seoul 1988.
- The Belarusians were top seeds, while the British pair entered the competition on an International Tennis Federation place.
- The bronze medal was won by Lisa RAYMOND/Mike BRYAN (USA), who defeated Sabine LISICKI/Christopher KAS (GER) 6-3, 4-6, 10-4.

Notes

- Of the 44 NOCs entered in the tennis tournament, eight won medals.
- USA was the most successful NOC, winning three golds - women's singles, women's doubles and men's doubles.
- The WILLIAMS sisters are the first pair to win gold in the women's doubles in successive Olympic Games since Gigi FERNANDEZ/Mary Joe FERNANDEZ (USA), who won at Barcelona 1992 and Atlanta 1996.
- The WILLIAMS sisters are the first tennis players to win four gold medals. Only one player has won more than four tennis medals of any colour: Kathleen 'Kitty' MCKANE (GBR) won five medals (one gold, two silver and two bronze) at Antwerp 1920 and Paris 1924.
- The mixed doubles were last played at Paris 1924, when Hazel WIGHTMAN/Norris WILLIAMS (USA) defeated Marion JESSUP/Vincent RICHARDS (USA) in the gold medal match.

- The unseeded USA pair required just one hour 33 minutes to overcome the fourth seed Czech pair.
- In the bronze medal match, third seeds Maria KIRILENKO/Nadia PETROVA (RUS) defeated top seeds Liezel HUBER/Lisa RAYMOND (USA) 4-6, 6-4, 6-1.
- WILLIAMS/WILLIAMS became only the second pair in the history of the event to successfully defend the women's doubles title, having also triumphed at Beijing 2008. This was a third Olympic women's doubles title together following Sydney 2000 and Beijing 2008.
- They have now four Olympic gold medals. The record is five by Kitty McKANE (GBR), won between 1920-24.
- WILLIAMS/WILLIAMS were unseeded for the event. Seeding was based upon a combined best of singles and doubles ranking for each pair. Due to Venus WILLIAMS' low singles ranking - a result of illness - the pair were unseeded. But they did not drop a set in the five matches played.
- Having defeated unseeded pair Sorana CIRSTEA/Simona HALEP (ROU) 6-3, 6-2 in the first round, the WILLIAMS sisters faced seeded opponents in the following four matches. Fifth seeds Angelique KERBER/Sabine LISICKI (GER) were dispatched 6-2, 7-5 in the second round.
- In the third round they faced second seeds Sara ERRANI/Roberta VINCI (ITA). ERRANI/VINCI had claimed seven doubles titles in 2012 and had a 25-match unbeaten streak earlier in the year. However, WILLIAMS/WILLIAMS beat them 6-1, 6-1.
- The sisters were troubled for the first time in the semifinals when they met third seeds Maria KIRILENKO/Nadia PETROVA (RUS). However, the USA pair won 7-5, 6-4 and proceeded to the gold medal match and ultimately, a successful defence of their women's doubles gold medal

Wimbledon 'confident' courts will endure

Despite criticism from some players about the state of Wimbledon's courts at the London 2012 Olympic Games tennis event, Eddie SEWARD (GBR), the head groundsman of the All England Club, said on Wednesday he was confident that they would last the duration of the tournament.

It takes almost a year to prepare the courts at the All England Club for the Championships, but the Games tournament started less than three weeks after this year's Championships ended on 8 July. It is the first time the club has attempted to pre-germinate its grass courts and it was done largely for cosmetic reasons.

"It was inevitable that the new grass would come straight out because it's very young grass," said SEWARD, "just as it was inevitable that it would be a little bit slippery at this time of year."

"I'm confident the courts will last through the tournament. I don't think you'll get much more wear now. If you look at the courts there's plenty of grass still on the main body of them."

A few players complained about the slipperiness of the courts, particularly in the first three days of competition. That was largely due to the dew that had arrived a little earlier in the evenings than it does during the Championships.

"The courts were perfectly dry, it was just that they got dew on them which unfortunately made them slippery. I don't think you'll get that now, you'll just get a little dusting up on the baselines," said SEWARD.

The only time in recent years that the courts at the All England Club have been used competitively other than for the Championships was in 2007 when Great Britain played Croatia in a Davis Cup World Group play-off on Court No.1 - the last appearance of Tim HENMAN (GBR) - but that was in mid-September so it had had longer to recover from the Championships.

It is not just the elements that SEWARD and his staff have had to contend with down the years. For many years the club has flown a Harris Hawk over Centre Court to scare off pigeons, which is particularly important during seeding time. But the biggest menace - which no longer exists - has been urban female foxes.

"The pigeons used to be in their hundreds but they're not now because of the hawk. It doesn't kill them, it just frightens them away. We've been using the hawk two or three times a week and daily when we're actually seeding. In years gone by we used to have pigeons sitting up on the old roof on Centre Court watching us seed, basically saying, 'It's meals on wheels, chaps'."

"Foxes used to get into the grounds and then into the vomitories of the staircases," said SEWARD, "If a vixen urinates on the court, as they have been known to do, it can kill the grass and the soil in that little patch. Now we have electric fences around the ground, which don't do any harm to the foxes, just gives them a tickle and it frightens them off."
